Observation Worksheets on Genesis 1 and 2
Cross-references
Word studies

Bereshit* is the Hebrew name for the book of Genesis. It means “in the beginning.” And that is what you are about to study. In just four short weeks you are going to look at Genesis 1 and 2, probably the most contested and debated chapters in the Word of God because they deal with the beginning of the world, of mankind, and of marriage.

As you probably realize, there is a wide variety of theories, philosophies, ideas, and concepts with respect to the creation of the world, living creatures, man—and marriage; what constitutes marriage?

As you do this study, our task will simply be to see what the Word of God, the Bible, has to say about these subjects.

Our approach to Genesis will be inductive, which means you will seek to discover for yourself exactly what the Word of God says in this book of beginnings. We want you to say with the psalmist, “For you have taught me” (Psalm 119:102b).

The process we use is that of observation, interpretation, and application. First, you will observe the text thoroughly to discover what it says—and then knowing well what it says, you will seek to interpret it correctly so that you know what it means. Then finally, we hope you will apply the truth you discover to your life.

And what does application look like? First, it may mean that you have to change your mind about what you believe so that it lines up with the Word of God. Second, having believed by faith what God says, you would conduct your life accordingly. Faith is taking God at His Word; it’s trusting what He says.

DAY ONE

1. How does Genesis, this book of beginnings, begin? At the end of this study you will find the text of Genesis 1 and 2. We call these Observation Worksheets. If you have done a Precept Upon Precept course, you know that soon you'll be marking them up. However right now, just read. Read carefully. When you finish, simply jot down your thoughts about what you've read. Think about the text. How does it strike you? What are your questions? How does it line up with what you hear in your culture about the beginning of the world, of life, of man, of the union of a man and a woman?
2. Now read Genesis 1 aloud. As you do, mark every reference to God, including pronouns. Choose a color or symbol for God so you can quickly identify every reference to Him. See the back of your workbook for a suggested marking, along with suggestions for other words used frequently throughout the Bible.
3. What do you learn from marking the references to God? Look at each place you marked Him, and list below what Genesis 1 tells you about God. Be brief.

6. Observation is the foundation of accurate interpretation and correct application. If the foundation is not laid properly, then what is built on it will crumble. When you observe the text, any text, whether it is scripture or another subject, learn to ask the 5 Ws and H: who, what, when, where, why, and how. Ask them over and over again—grilling, interrogating the text until you know for yourself exactly what it says.

- a. Who is the main character in Genesis 1?
- b. What do you learn about Him? You've already noted that by marking the references to God and listing what the text tells you. When you make a list—just get the facts! Remember you are observing—simply seeing what the text tells you, not adding your opinion, your personal commentary on the text!
- c. Are there any references to when in this chapter? When something happened or was done? Mark (time) in a distinctive way, for instance with a green circle. Do this on your Genesis 1 Observation Worksheet.
- d. Is there any reference to where? Yes, “heavens” is a where and so is “earth,” so you will want to mark them. We suggest double underlining all references to where in green. When you mark, you may want to mark the entire phrase, such as: on the earth, in the expanse of the heavens.

Then, and this is just a suggestion, you might want to color heavens light blue and earth brown (dirt is brown!) so they will pop on the page and you can easily distinguish heaven from earth. When it comes to marking, the key is to do what suits you. Stop and mark references to “where” in Genesis 1.

- e. Why? Are there any answers to why in this chapter, reasons for things? We don't usually mark them but you want to look for anything that helps you understand why something was done or said. For example, look at Genesis 1:14-18 and list below why the lights were made.

- f. Finally, we come to the H—how. Does Genesis 1 tell you how anything was done or how it happened? If so, write it below.

Good job! That's enough for today. Now, as you go about the task of life (and life is quite a task, isn't it!), think about what you learned from the Word of God—and its implications. For example, if this is true, what difference can it make in my thinking, attitude, my dealings with people and the various contingencies of life? This is called meditating on the Word of God—and it will be healthy meditation because you've honored God's Word by listening to Him.

DAY TWO

1. It's back to Genesis 1 today. There's more to observe, and the more you observe, the more you will retain. Marking the text helps you “see it”—and that enhances memory.
2. Read Genesis 1 again:
 - a. If you didn't mark in a distinctive way or underline the phrase And God said (Then God said) in a special color, do it now.
 - b. Did you mark or underline in a distinctive way or color the phrase and there was evening and there was morning, the ____ day? If not, mark it now. Since this is a time phrase, many of us just mark it with a squiggly green line that we link to the green circle we use for time.
 - c. Did you mark in a distinctive way the phrase and God saw that it was good—or anything similar to that in wording? If not, it's time to do so.

3. Now, in the margin of the text note what God did on each day. You may want to use a pencil at this point in case you want to change something later.
4. On the chart at the end of the lesson, record exactly what came into existence on each day, along with anything else you see that you want to remember about what God created. It will help solidify your observations and provide you with a concise chart on what the Bible teaches regarding the days and order of Creation.

As you do this, are you thinking,

“This is not what I was taught!”

“Is this scientific?”

“This contradicts what I’ve believed.

Now what am I to do, who am I to believe?”

Those are legitimate questions, thoughts. In fact you might want to briefly jot down where you are right now. Just remember, we have more to learn, to sort out, so “hangeth thou in there.” Let’s get down the facts of what God says in His Word, then you’ll better understand any supposed conflicts. Close your day with prayer, asking God to lead you and guide you by His Spirit into all truth.

DAY THREE

1. After you talk to the author of Genesis about what He has written and why, read Genesis 1 aloud and mark every reference to the waters and to the sea(s) in the same way. As you mark, you might want to mark the entire phrase that has to do with the water, such as “in the midst of the waters.”
2. Look again at the “Days of Creation” chart. What follows what? Does there seem to be any order in what God made—any particular logic to that order? Write out your insights.

- a. Read aloud Genesis 1:1 and write it out below. As you do:
 - 1) mark “In” with a circle and put a squiggly line under the rest of the time phrase.
 - 2) put (Elohim) in parenthesis after “God.”
 - 3) write (bara) after “created.”

 - b. Now look up the definition of “created,” bara in the Hebrew. The verb here is in the Qal stem (the simplest form of a Hebrew verb which carries the property of active voice, the subject causes the action). Write out what you learn, especially if the tool mentions the Qal stem. If you have not done a word study before, read “How to Use Word Study Tools,” in How to Study Your Bible.
2. Now, let’s take a closer look at the name used for God in Genesis 1. Elohim is used more than 2,500 times in Scripture. It’s an interesting word because it has the Hebrew plural ending (im).

When you get to Genesis 1:26, you read, “Then God said, ‘Let us make man in our image, after our likeness . . .’” [italics added]. It seems the plural sense of Elohim becomes evident in the words spoken by Him.

The question then becomes, Who are the “us,” the “our”? Let’s let Scripture help us interpret Scripture and see what God tells us in other places about Himself and Creation. Look up each verse and note what you observe that might help explain the “us . . . our.”

e. Colossians 1:15-17

f. 1 Corinthians 8:6

g. Revelation 4:2, 9-11—If there is any doubt as to which person of the Godhead this is, continue to read Revelation 5:1-7.

Don't you just love the way God unfolds His truth to us, precept upon precept! Thank you, thank you, thank you, Beloved of God, for honoring the Word of God by studying to show yourself approved unto God—a workman who does not need to be ashamed because you have disciplined yourself for the purpose of godliness.

DAY FIVE

In Genesis 1 the Hebrew word for “day” is yom. Yom is the most common concept of time found in the Old Testament. It is used over 2200 times, and can mean “the period of light (as contrasted with the period of darkness), . . . the period of twenty-four hours, . . . a general vague ‘time,’ . . . a point of time.”¹ The particular meaning is made clear by the context. Remember the key to accurate interpretation is letting context rule over all interpretation.

- b. What kind of literature is Exodus? Is it history, poetry, prophecy?
 - c. What is the meaning of “day” in this passage? How do you know?
 - d. Scripture is the best interpreter of Scripture. How does Genesis 2:1-2 compare with Exodus 20:8-11?
4. The following passages have been cited by some believers as suggesting either short or long periods of time for creation. Look up each one, and from simply observing the text and letting Scripture interpret Scripture, record your insights in the space below each passage. Carefully consider the context, watch the word “like,” and then write out how “day” is to be interpreted.
- a. 2 Peter 3:8
 - b. Psalm 90:3-4
5. Now, based on what you have observed in the Word of God, letting God speak for Himself, what do you think God is saying about the time He took to create all that He says He created—and why?

Lesson 1, Chapter 1

GENESIS 1

Observation Worksheet

Chapter Theme _____

- IN the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth.
- 2 The earth was without form and void, and darkness was over the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the face of the waters.
 - 3 And God said, “Let there be light,” and there was light.
 - 4 And God saw that the light was good. And God separated the light from the darkness.
 - 5 God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And there was evening and there was morning, the first day.
 - 6 And God said, “Let there be an expanse in the midst of the waters, and let it separate the waters from the waters.”
 - 7 And God made the expanse and separated the waters that were under the expanse from the waters that were above the expanse. And it was so.
 - 8 And God called the expanse Heaven. And there was evening and there was morning, the second day.
 - 9 And God said, “Let the waters under the heavens be gathered together into one place, and let the dry land appear.” And it was so.
 - 10 God called the dry land Earth, and the waters that were gathered together he called Seas. And God saw that it was good.

- 11 And God said, “Let the earth sprout vegetation, plants yielding seed, and fruit trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind, on the earth.” And it was so.
- 12 The earth brought forth vegetation, plants yielding seed according to their own kinds, and trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.
- 13 And there was evening and there was morning, the third day.
- 14 And God said, “Let there be lights in the expanse of the heavens to separate the day from the night. And let them be for signs and for seasons, and for days and years,
- 15 and let them be lights in the expanse of the heavens to give light upon the earth.” And it was so.
- 16 And God made the two great lights—the greater light to rule the day and the lesser light to rule the night—and the stars.
- 17 And God set them in the expanse of the heavens to give light on the earth,
- 18 to rule over the day and over the night, and to separate the light from the darkness. And God saw that it was good.
- 19 And there was evening and there was morning, the fourth day.
- 20 And God said, “Let the waters swarm with swarms of living creatures, and let birds fly above the earth across the expanse of the heavens.”
- 21 So God created the great sea creatures and every living creature that moves, with which the waters swarm, according to their kinds, and every winged bird according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.

- 22 And God blessed them, saying, “Be fruitful and multiply and fill the waters in the seas, and let birds multiply on the earth.”
- 23 And there was evening and there was morning, the fifth day.
- 24 And God said, “Let the earth bring forth living creatures according to their kinds—livestock and creeping things and beasts of the earth according to their kinds.” And it was so.
- 25 And God made the beasts of the earth according to their kinds and the livestock according to their kinds, and everything that creeps on the ground according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.
- 26 Then God said, “Let us make man in our image, after our likeness. And let them have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over the livestock and over all the earth and over every creeping thing that creeps on the earth.”
- 27 So God created man in his own image,
in the image of God he created him;
male and female he created them.
- 28 And God blessed them. And God said to them, “Be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth and subdue it, and have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over every living thing that moves on the earth.”
- 29 And God said, “Behold, I have given you every plant yielding seed that is on the face of all the earth, and every tree with seed in its fruit. You shall have them for food.

- 30 “And to every beast of the earth and to every bird of the heavens and to everything that creeps on the earth, everything that has the breath of life, I have given every green plant for food.” And it was so.
- 31 And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good. And there was evening and there was morning, the sixth day.

GENESIS 2

Observation Worksheet

Chapter Theme _____

THUS the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them.

2 And on the seventh day God finished his work that he had done, and he rested on the seventh day from all his work that he had done.

3 So God blessed the seventh day and made it holy, because on it God rested from all his work that he had done in creation.

4 These are the generations of the heavens and the earth when they were created, in the day that the LORD God made the earth and the heavens.

5 When no bush of the field was yet in the land and no small plant of the field had yet sprung up—for the LORD God had not caused it to rain on the land, and there was no man to work the ground,

6 and a mist was going up from the land and was watering the whole face of the ground—

7 then the LORD God formed the man of dust from the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living creature.

8 And the LORD God planted a garden in Eden, in the east, and there he put the man whom he had formed.

9 And out of the ground the LORD God made to spring up every tree that is pleasant to the sight and good for food. The tree of life was in the midst of the garden, and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.

- 10 A river flowed out of Eden to water the garden, and there it divided and became four rivers.
- 11 The name of the first is the Pishon. It is the one that flowed around the whole land of Havilah, where there is gold.
- 12 And the gold of that land is good; bdellium and onyx stone are there.
- 13 The name of the second river is the Gihon. It is the one that flowed around the whole land of Cush.
- 14 And the name of the third river is the Tigris, which flows east of Assyria. And the fourth river is the Euphrates.
- 15 The LORD God took the man and put him in the garden of Eden to work it and keep it.
- 16 And the LORD God commanded the man, saying, “You may surely eat of every tree of the garden,
- 17 but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you shall not eat, for in the day that you eat of it you shall surely die.”
- 18 Then the LORD God said, “It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him a helper fit for him.”
- 19 Now out of the ground the LORD God had formed every beast of the field and every bird of the heavens and brought them to the man to see what he would call them. And whatever the man called every living creature, that was its name.
- 20 The man gave names to all livestock and to the birds of the heavens and to every beast of the field. But for Adam there was not found a helper fit for him.

- 21 So the LORD God caused a deep sleep to fall upon the man, and while he slept took one of his ribs and closed up its place with flesh.
- 22 And the rib that the LORD God had taken from the man he made into a woman and brought her to the man.
- 23 Then the man said,
- “This at last is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh;
she shall be called Woman,
because she was taken out of Man.”
- 24 Therefore a man shall leave his father and his mother and hold fast to his wife, and they shall become one flesh.
- 25 And the man and his wife were both naked and were not ashamed.
